CANADA

ISSUE OF THE WEEK

Our right to privacy

So much for the protection of fundamental, individual rights by Canadian Courts. How serious are our own, elected representatives when it comes to this critical task? One might be concerned when it comes to this week's news that the Government of Canada, through Statistics Canada, is asking banks across the nation to supply personal financial data on hundreds of thousands of Canadians – unbeknownst to these same citizens.

The collection of such sensitive information, without permission, can clearly be seen to abrogate Section 8 of the Charter and its call to disallow “unreasonable search and seizure”. At this point in time, the Liberal government continues to justify its trampling of these individual rights with no intention to test its actions under the full light of the Charter.

This invasion of your privacy rights is even more worrisome when one considers a number of other information exchange agreements that Canada is entering into with other countries - including China. One such arrangement sees tax information being shared when individuals are under investigation for evasion. Will the new StatsCan initiative open the door for the international transfer of additional data including yours? Such a capability, although clearly against the interests of the citizen, would fall in line with U.N. Agenda 2030 and its call for nations to provide financial support for the implementation of its seventeen Sustainability Development Goals (SDGs). These goals include the combatting of “climate change” and ensuring the safe, orderly and regular flow of international migration. There are dots here that are begging to be connected. One could be forgiven for asking: is the government of Canada working in the interests of its citizens or a global imperative?

Someone needs to get the ball rolling when it comes to forcing the StatsCan, data-grab initiative to pass Charter muster. Our politicians seem to be stymied by an intractable Liberal, majority government so I suppose it’s up to us, as aggrieved individuals, to apply pressure.

You can do this by intervening personally with your bank manager. Tell him or her that you have a Charter right that secures your personal property from unreasonable search and seizure. Demand that your data be protected and that you be informed if government agencies come looking for its retrieval. More than this though, tell bank management that you will consider moving your finances elsewhere if the bank refuses to act on your behalf. In the end, if your political leaders won’t help you and you are too small to defend your own rights, perhaps the banks will move to do so.

The Liberals are accessing your private bank info.
Say "NO" to Trudeau!

The Liberal Government supports Stats Can to gather the personal financial information of 500,000 Canadians from the Banks without respecting our Privacy rights or asking our permission. We are concerned citizens who feel this action disrespects and violates our right to privacy. The Prime Minister has broken the laws that cover our right to Privacy (PIPEDA) by authorizing Stats Can to collect the personal financial and banking information/history from Canadian Banks for 500,000 citizens/residents.

EXCLUSIVE: Stats Canada requesting banking information of 500,000 Canadians without their knowledge

The personal banking and financial transactions being requested include bill payments, cash withdrawals from ATMs, credit card payments, electronic money transfers and even account balances of Canadians across the country. James Tebrake, director general of macroeconomics at Statistics Canada, told Global News that beginning in January, the agency will ask nine banks for the financial transaction information from a representative sample of 500,000 randomly chosen Canadians or a 1 in 20 chance of being selected.

Mohamad Fakhri – Trudeau's Most Valuable Political Asset

For the Liberal Party, Fakhri is a one of the most valuable political assets that can help in mobilizing the Muslim and the Arab communities to vote for reelection of the Trudeau government in 2019 elections. Tom Quiggin, a Canadian intelligence expert, has recently sent to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police a request to launch an investigation into financing terrorism. It is based on a new report that shows that Members of Parliament and Ministers have been sending taxpayers' money to organizations that fund extremism and terrorism.

Petition to the Government of Canada

Whereas:

- The Government of Canada has a duty to ensure the rights and wellbeing of Canadians;
- The maintenance of our borders and limited merit-based immigration are essential to our rights and wellbeing;
- Polls consistently have shown the majority of Canadians reject illegal border crossing and subordination of our citizens' needs to those of illegal aliens; and
- Several of our allies notably the United States of America, Poland, Hungary and Austria have withdrawn from the United Nations' global migration pact citing its threats to their sovereignty, peace, order and good governance.

We, the undersigned, Canadians, call upon the Government of Canada to likewise withdraw from the Global Compact for Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration.

Elderly priest's free speech protest shut down at behest of Ottawa abortion provider

An 83-year-old Catholic priest in Ottawa was arrested and charged for protesting near an abortion clinic which is against the draconian Ontario Safe Access to Abortion Law that limits the speech rights of pro-lifers — except he wasn't protesting abortion. The problem is, Fr. Tony was advocating for free speech and not against abortion. His signs made that clear, but he was arrested anyway, proving those signs right.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Now it's Official: Europeans Can't Criticize Islam by Bruce Bawer

The European Court of Human Rights has gone full dhimmi. The ECHR has totally capitulated to Islam. It has dealt a major blow to freedom of speech in Europe. At this point, indeed, the ECHR might as well be a sharia court. When it comes to voicing unpleasant truths about Islam, it can no longer be claimed with any legitimacy that Europeans under the jurisdiction of the ECHR – which is to say, every European except for the thousand-odd residents of the Vatican and the nine million inhabitants of Belarus – still enjoy freedom of expression. In one fell swoop, the ECHR has put an end to that. And some Americans wonder why Donald Trump is so determined to keep the United States out of the jurisdiction of international courts.

The New Jihad: More Threatening Than Ever

This week, the unelected judges of the European Court of Human Rights submitted to the demands of Sharia blasphemy laws and decided not to allow criticism of Muhammad, lest Muslim feelings be hurt. The court actually chose hurt feelings over freedom of expression and truth as a defense. It is probably time to un-elect these unelected judges.

ISLAMOPHOBIA

Robert Spencer: A message to my critics

Recently I've been called a "notorious Islamophobe" and an "anti-Muslim propagandist" in the Left-wing media, and while these charges aren't new, I thought it worth noting today that they are based as much on ignorance as they are on malice. My message to my critics is this: if you knew what I know, you would agree with me.

Israeli "Freedom is basic" ad featuring model taking off niqab ripped as "Islamophobic," is withdrawn

The propaganda arm of Theresa May's shabby little police state chirps "Islamophobia" on cue. But isn't it true that some women who wear the niqab or hijab do not do so freely? What about Aqsa Parvez? Her Muslim father choked her to death with her hijab after she refused to wear it. Courageous women in the Islamic Republic of Iran have been taking off their hijabs as a sign of resistance to the oppressive Sharia regime under which they live, and at least 29 women have been arrested for doing so. Who is standing in solidarity with them? No one. Apparently it would be "Islamophobic" to do so.

IMMIGRATION-MIGRATION

Invasion of the USA is NOT a Human Right!

We are now in the process of being overloaded beyond our abilities. The initial Invasion Force from Honduras and Guatemala has reached at least 7,000, with some estimates placing the actual number at 14,000-15,000. And, there are said to be 2-3 more to follow this one. Despite what is now being taught in public and some private schools, our Constitution does not allow for the USA to be destroyed by invaders. That would be suicide. These are acts of war, folks, not the activities of 'poor immigrants'.

The Caravan Is Not Coming Because It's Already Here

The Caravan March is a well-staged travelling Terrorist Attack bringing barbarians to the gate, its goal being to flood the border states of Arizona, California and Texas et al with uninvited guests, who, once inside, will form cells to help the progressive-left attack America from within.

The Caravan Mission, like the Big Women's March the first day after President Donald Trump's Inauguration, was painstakingly organized long before the pink cap protesters ever hit the streets. Not even ganged-up social media or flash mobs can put millions of protesters on the street overnight.

<https://canadafreepress.com/article/the-caravan-is-not-coming-because-its-already-here>

What Will Happen When the Migrant Caravan Reaches the Border?

It's a lose-lose situation. Even if the military handles the migrants with kid gloves and no one gets so much as a hangnail, the establishment media will portray the American soldiers who are stopping the caravan as redneck thugs, mindlessly operating on the orders of the racist bigot in the White House. And if the migrants are not stopped, and enter the country, the same media will howl that Trump has not kept his word, and cannot be trusted.

ANTIFA

America's Domestic Terrorists

Since September, 2015, well over 600 acts of violence against Trump supporters and Republicans have been documented. These have included verbal threats and abuse, death threats, beatings with clubs, chains, fists, and kicking, and shootings. All of the acts have been perpetrated by avowed leftist groups—ANTIFA and Black Lives Matter come immediately to mind.

Facebook Allows Communist Antifa To Incite Their Followers to Burn Down Housing Developments

Communist Antifa is certainly guilty of that level of hatred and more. Yet, somehow, they are still on Facebook. Communists of a feather. These are accounts that call for the murder of President Trump and conservatives on a regular basis. They brazenly use their Facebook pages to radicalize, recruit, and mobilize new members. They are incredibly hateful and violent.

FRANCE

When French Identity Died

If there is no such thing as a “true Frenchmen,” then everyone in France can be French, and there is no need to wonder about how to “integrate” Muslims into a French identity that no longer exists. Muslims in France are already almost as French as they need to be, in Macron’s rosy view, and the only problem, for Macron, is making sure that “foreign states” do not build and maintain mosques in France, or train and pay for French imams. He does not see the problem as one of an ideology, Islam, irredeemably hostile to what makes France.

Israel silent as Iran hit by computer virus more violent than Stuxnet

Iranian infrastructure and strategic networks have come under attack in the last few days by a computer virus similar to Stuxnet but “more violent, more advanced and more sophisticated”. Italian Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of the Interior Matteo Salvini named Islam as "one of the greatest threats to Italy" and stated months ago: Centuries of history are at risk of disappearing if Islamisation, which has been underestimated until now, finally wins. Lombardy's populist League-led local government has blocked plans to turn an old chapel into a mosque after an Islamic group outbid Christians at the auction of a church in Bergamo, northern Italy.

PAKISTAN

Pakistan: Asia Bibi Acquitted After Years Awaiting Death for "Blasphemy"

No one took to the streets of Europe to protest Asia Bibi's imprisonment. No major Western columnist penned articles proclaiming "Je Suis Asia Bibi." Western secular human rights groups, always ready and willing to embrace any cause, largely remained missing in action. Where have our philosophers, humanists and journalists been during these last nine years of injustice? It is this sad indifference that is devouring the West.

UNITED KINGDOM

UK: Seven Muslims found guilty of running rape gang, one girl was raped by "at least 100" Muslims before she was 16

Who is responsible for the mass gang-rape of British girls by Muslims? The British Left — in particular the “anti-hate” crusaders Nick Lowles and Matthew Collins of Hope Not Hate, Fiyaz Mughal of Faith Matters and Tell Mama, and their friends, supporters, and allies. They demonized as “Islamophobic,” “hateful” and “bigoted” anyone who said that there were Muslim rape gangs at all, and that they had to be stopped.

A comment on the story:

“The rape of our young girls on a massive scale by depraved Muslim gangs is the greatest scandal to have ever arisen in the UK made even worse by the cowardly indifference of politicians, social workers and police. That Tommy Robinson was arrested and imprisoned for pointing this out, as I could be, indicates that nothing is more important to the UK authorities than appeasing and pandering to Muslims. Young British girls (white, Sikh and Hindu victims of the rape gangs), their lives shattered, are of no account to the UK elite who regard Muslims as the primary victim group to be zealously protected. The day of reckoning will make Armageddon look like a Sunday picnic.”

The UK’s Muslim rape gangs and Maajid Nawaz’s hypocrisy

Muslims tend to enjoy special status in relation to rape and grooming. If you talk about their behaviour, you’re a racist. Forget the lifetime trauma that the raped girls will never get over. Forget the ruined lives so that a bunch of animals could have five minutes of pleasure. Forget the suicide and drug addiction rates we will be seeing in later years as a result of Maajid’s community’s behaviour.

Sajid Javid’s Tweet Horrifies Sadiq Khan

London mayor Sadiq Khan has attacked Home Secretary Sajid Javid for “playing to the far-right narrative” with a tweet he sent following the sentencing of a grooming gang in Huddersfield. Mr. Javid tweeted after a gang of 20 men were sentenced on October 19; "These sick Asian paedophiles are finally facing justice. I want to commend the bravery of the victims. For too long, they were ignored. Not on my watch. There will be no no-go areas." Sadiq Khan thinks identifying the groomers in this way is unacceptable, though he fails to explain why.

UK: Terror Investigations an "Inconvenience"?

It is mystifying that the victims of terror had nowhere to turn: it has been more than a decade since the first mass terrorist attack in the UK, in 2005 on London's transit system, where 56 people were killed and 700 wounded. Since then, Britain has only seen the terror threat continue. Perhaps the main reason that terror victims had nowhere to turn is that even after years of living with Islamic terrorism, British authorities and public services still appear to be more concerned with dealing with perceived "Islamophobia" than with the real, devastating consequences of terrorism.

Finding Wisdom as the Branches Shriveled by Mark Steyn

We live in a time when man can find wisdom – almost the entirety of human knowledge – on a pocket-sized device he carries around with him all day. In theory, the tree of life should be spreading its branches broad and embracing over ever more of humanity. Instead, in the Age of Digital Wisdom, too many retreat into dark corners sealed off from any wider enlightenment. In this world of hermetically sealed ideological ghettos, it is a melancholy fact that Islam, the secular polytechnic left and the subterranean skinhead right all meet at what Laura Rosen Cohen calls Jew-Hate Junction.

Double honor killing? Muslim sisters found dead

Two sisters were found bound together, dead, floating in the East River in New York City. For the past few days, the police were asking the public for information, trying to find out who they were. Trump's rhetoric didn't cause this massacre by Barbara Kay

All the individuals behind these attempted and successful acts of human slaughter are mysteries in the end. A divisive and volatile environment may further excite their dark passions, it is true. A national leader who is careless in his often divisive rhetoric does nothing to calm the social waters. But that's a far cry from actually causing a massacre. And so, when CNN asked Rabbi Jeffrey Myers if Trump would be welcome at the Tree of Life Synagogue, he wisely replied: "The President of the United States is always welcome. I am a citizen, he is my president. He is always welcome." That was the right, that was the unifying, thing to say.

The ingratitude: Islamic State threatens to assassinate Pope Francis

It is understandable that the Islamic State would want to murder the most prominent exponent of Christianity, but in this the jihadis are being short-sighted. Pope Francis and the Catholic Church are among their best and most useful friends. The Pope, like the Organization of Islamic Cooperation, apparently thinks that the problem is not jihad terror, but non-Muslims talking about jihad terror; Muslims would be peaceful if non-Muslims would simply censor themselves and self-impose Sharia blasphemy restrictions regarding criticism of Islam.

The militarisation of anti-Semitism

If you look at the fascistic slaughter in Pittsburgh and see only the problem of Trumpism, then you are being wilfully blind; politically and morally blind. For in this assault we see scarily mainstream views being given a violent expression and we see merely the latest step in a militarisation of anti-Semitism that has been growing for years. Ultimately, only one person bears responsibility for the massacre. The rest of us, however, have a moral responsibility to be honest about the rise of anti-Semitism and to treat it, finally, with the seriousness it deserves.
