CANADA

All of Canada under threat for Liberals' refusal to uphold law concerning returning ISIL fighters

“Why shouldn’t I be able to go home?” I’ve done nothing in Canada. I’ve broken no laws there at all.” Wrong. Under Section 83.181 of the Criminal Code, anyone who leaves or tries to leave to commit an offence that is indictable in Canada is liable to imprisonment for up to 10 years. In Canada, the Liberals have done virtually nothing, which endangers everyone.

Canada: Opposition leader lambasted for not decrying “Islamophobia” following New Zealand massacre

Scheer is facing the “Islamophobia” battering ram because he did not word his condolences and horror over the Christchurch mosque attack the way Islamic supremacists think he should have worded them. The message for Andrew Scheer is to accept his inferior status in accordance to Islamic supremacist dictates, apologize and be obedient. The publication NowToronto asserted in its headline that Christchurch massacre lays bare Andrew Scheer’s Islamophobia problem. Odd, since Scheer is been criticized among Conservatives for bending over backwards to prove

Antifa harasses Vancouver Greek Orthodox community over free speech event

“The fact that they do not link to any of my speeches or books directly is highly irresponsible, and a clear sign of bad intent. Calling an individual such vicious names without checking thoroughly is a terrible breach of moral and intellectual responsibility,” said Molyneux. “It provokes hysteria and, frankly, can increase the risk of physical danger to me and those who want to come and hear my arguments and evidence.”

Canadian Labour Congress and Muslim group accuse Scheer of emboldening far-right actors

The leaders of Canada’s largest labour organization and a prominent national Muslim group say Conservative Leader Andrew Scheer is emboldening far-right extremists by failing to call out Islamophobia following the New Zealand mosque shootings and attending events with people who promote hate speech.

Canada: University cites New Zealand massacre as reason for canceling Islamocritical talk by ex-Muslim Citizens of Western countries are being forced to accept Sharia blasphemy restrictions forbidding criticism of Islam. Such criticism subjects the critic to bullying and thuggery, and to accusations of "racism," "Islamophobia," being "far right" and "extremist" and the like. Even academic institutions have lost their way and are failing miserably in their duty to nurture intellectual inquiry and debate among the young.

Montreal priest released from hospital after stabbing at St. Joseph's Oratory

In the video, a man wearing a dark winter coat and a light-coloured baseball cap pulled out a large knife and walked in front of the altar. The footage shows the suspect run up the steps towards the priest. Grou attempted to run away as the attacker knocked over a candle. The video shows the man quickly catch up to the priest and push him to the ground before he appears to stab him. Following the stabbing, the suspect dropped the knife and stood up as members of the congregation ran towards him. Three men restrained the attacker while other people went to help Grou who appeared to stand up on his own.

C3RF Member Update - 22 March, 2019

This week's C3RF "update" scratches below the surface to study the dichotomy presented by two sets of terrorist attacks. It ponders why political and media elites are treating the Christchurch mosque attacks and the ongoing genocide of Nigerian Christians so differently. Is political expediency harming the victims in each case and how will this bias impact the Charter rights of individual Canadians?

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Cambridge's shameful decision to rescind Jordan
Peterson's visiting fellowship

The Cambridge student newspaper, which is so craven in its forelock-tugging obeisance to the protesting students it makes Pravda look like the work of John Milton, we learn that Peterson isn't welcome at Cambridge because it's – wait for it – an 'inclusive environment'. There then follows a laundry list of Peterson's unforgivable sins: he believes 'white privilege' is a 'Marxist lie', that 'the patriarchy' is 'predicated on competence', that 'the West has lost faith in masculinity', that 'global warming posturing is a masquerade for anti-capitalists to have a go at the Western patriarchy' and that 'men are victims of gender oppression'.

Judge Jeanine and the Paradoxes of the Post-9/11 World

In the eighteen years since 9/11, the Western political and media establishment have continued to echo the lie that "The face of terror is not the true faith of Islam. That's not what Islam is all about. Islam is peace." Jihadists have struck Bali, Madrid, Beslan, London, Mumbai, Fort Hood, Paris, San Bernardino, Brussels, Orlando, Nice, Manchester, Barcelona, and New York again – just to name a few of the deadlier and more high-profile incidents. Yet, perversely, the lie about Islam is stronger than ever.

Throughout the West, schoolchildren and college students alike have been fed a picture of Islam that's pure propaganda. Yes, one has the impression that many people are more aware of the reality of Islam than they used to be – but one also has the impression that they feel more cowed than ever into keeping quiet about it.

Goodbye free speech: CAIR demands complete censorship of those critical of Islam

CAIR, an organization with ties to the Muslim Brotherhood and Hamas, now wants to strip Americans of their Constitutional right to free speech. And he wants companies like Facebook and Twitter to join with the liberal media to make it happen. And as American-Israeli Adina Kutnicki and I illustrated here, Facebook is all too happy to do CAIR's bidding. Never mind that the murderer in question is a self-identified socialist and an eco-fascist who loves Communist China. CAIR has apparently determined that anyone with a different point of view is a "hate group" and must be stripped of their Constitutional rights.

MEF Defends the Right to Discuss Islam in Europe

Elisabeth Sabaditsch-Wolff's appeal to the Grand Chamber of the European Court of Human Rights (ECHR) was just rejected. Pursuing the principle that publicly discussing Islam and related matters should not lead to arrest and jail, the Middle East Forum had helped fund her important case with its implications for all of Europe. "The survival of liberal democracy depends on the freedom to discuss controversial subjects, including Islam and Islamism. Censorship of these topics leaves the public ignorant of the threats it faces. The ECHR ruling is a preview of things to come in the U.S. should the First Amendment be weakened."

SOUTHERN POVERTY LAW CENTRE

“Highly Profitable Scam”: Southern Poverty Law Center ‘Ripping off Donors’ Former Staffer Says

The Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC) is a “highly profitable scam” that “never lived up to the values it espoused,” according to former SPLC staffer Bob Moser. The New Yorker on Thursday published a scathing essay from Moser, now a Rolling Stone reporter, accusing the left-wing non-profit of “ripping off donors” while turning a blind eye to sexual harassment and racial discrimination within its own ranks. The non-profit recently reported more than half a billion dollars in assets, including $121 million in off-shore funds.

NEW ZEALAND

After the New Zealand mosque attacks, pointing fingers of blame

Years ago, disturbed by the West's failure properly to address Islamist extremism, I observed there was a risk of a lethal spiral of interconnected violence. Islamist extremism and attacks would be ignored and excused by the authorities, while those calling them out would be blamed instead; this failure to act against Islamist extremism would result in fringe groups becoming violent against Muslims; such violence would increase the witch-hunt against anti-Islamists, which would, in turn, embolden and encourage more Islamist attacks, provoking in turn more white racist violence.

New Zealand's ghoulish opportunists

The Western media class has reached a new low. The blame game they've been playing in the aftermath of the racist mass murder in New Zealand has been ghoulish and deeply disturbing. The bodies of the 50 murdered Muslims were barely cold before various observers, activists and leftists were naming and shaming those people who they think 'laid the ground' for this atrocity. And it apparently includes everyone from alt-right agitators to any mainstream newspaper columnist who has raised so much as a peep of criticism about radical Islam.

Ghosts of the Balkan wars are returning in unlikely places

Tarrant visited the Balkans in recent years in a quixotic hajj of sorts to honor his heroes in their centuries' long fight against Ottoman rule, which he sought to emulate in some sinister fashion. Neither is this strange Serbophilia unique to Tarrant. Anders Behring Breivik, the Norwegian terrorist who murdered 77 people back in 2011, was likewise obsessed with the Balkans and their history of resisting Islam by force, which he viewed as a model.

How to Silence Debate, New Zealand Edition

Here's the truth: Radical Islam is dangerous. The Islamic world has a serious problem with radical Islam. And large swaths of the Muslim world are, in fact, hostile to Western views on matters ranging from freedom of speech to women's rights. To conflate that obvious truth with the desire to murder innocents in Christchurch is intellectual dishonesty of the highest sort. If we want more Muslims living in liberty and freedom, we must certainly demolish white supremacy -- and we must also demolish radical Islam, devotees of which were responsible for an estimated 84,000 deaths in 2017 alone, most of those victims Muslim.

NIGERIA

The Not So Soft Bigotry of Liberal Media's Racism

The liberal media were quick to pounce on the recent killings in Christchurch, New Zealand—loudly and frequently. This was to be expected as New Zealand is largely a white western culture, and therefore afforded “most favored status” among mostly white, mostly liberal, western media. The murders that occurred during the same period in Nigeria, although greater in number, were largely ignored because (1) the victims were black, and (2) worse, Christian blacks, and (3) worse still, African Christian blacks, so who cares?

MI5: Far Right Terror Cases 'Absolutely Dwarfed by Islamist Cases'

The number of far-right terror cases the authorities are faced with is "absolutely dwarfed" by the number of cases related to radical Islam, according to Britain's Security Service, better known as MI5. Halfway through the article, however, the Guardian concedes that, while the security services "have not revealed how many of the 700 or so live terror plots and 20,000 individuals classified as 'closed subjects' ... are related to right-wing extremism", MI5 did disclose that such cases are, quote, "absolutely dwarfed by the number of Islamist cases" being dealt with.

UK Bans Hezbollah

I've carefully considered the evidence and I'm satisfied they are one and the same with the entire organisation linked to terrorism." In banning the entire organization of Hezbollah, the UK joins Canada, the U.S., Israel, the Netherlands and the Arab League, which have all banned the terror organization.
